

We're gonna kind of make this like the hanky code. Check the circle on the left for giving / topping and the right for receiving / bottoming. If it's kind of a mutual activity, or one you do by yourself, one circle will be provided. If you can think of a way for those activities to be topped or bottomed, add a second circle because you're badass smart like that. If something doesn't apply to you and your partner(s), mark it N/A. If there's something you like to fantasize and talk dirty about, but you don't want to do it IRL, mark it FA. Remember, this worksheet is meant to be hella customized. Add shit! Mark it up! Color outside the lines. We're not the sex czars, probably we don't know everything (probably). As helpful as lists are, we can't be reduced to them, so see this for what it is—a tool, a jumping off point for conversation.

A FEW THINGS ABOUT TOYS & LUBES

Materials/ingredients I'm sensitive or allergic to:

Materials/ingredients that turn me on:

Materials/ingredients I'm comfortable using:

Materials/ingredients that I wouldn't touch with a ten-foot pole:

Use this space to write/draw/collage/art-ify your way into what turns you on. Maybe it's something you think is "expected" or maybe it's something you think would surprise a partner. Everything you can think of is worth including.

WHAT TURNS ME ON

A large grid of green dots, intended for writing or drawing. The grid consists of 20 columns and 30 rows of dots, forming a rectangular area for the user's response.

So we just used a lot of "science" terms (i.e., terms that doctors would use to describe our bodies). But we're not doctors (and if we are, we're probably not doctors in the sack. We're probably just, I dunno, giant pleasure centers with reptilian brains).

Let's talk language.

WHAT WE'RE GONNA SAY

Please refer to my gender as:

(#1)

Please refer to my genitals as:

(#2)

It's acceptable to refer to my gender as:

(but it just doesn't make me as hot as #1)

It's acceptable to refer to my genitals as:

(but it just doesn't make me as hot as #2)

Please never refer to my gender as:

Please never refer to my genitals as:

When I want you to stop, I say:

When I want you to keep going (enthusiastically), I say:

When I want to check in with you, I say:

When you want me to stop, hearing the following makes sense to me:

When you want me to keep going, hearing the following makes sense to me:

When you want to check in with me, hearing the following makes sense to me:

Fantasies are a-okay! And if you're into dirty talk, knowing each other's fantasies can be fabulous! Hell, even if you're not into it, being able to tap into what you know other parties are imagining is pretty fucking cool.

WHAT I'M GONNA THINK

During sex, I like to image I:

During sex, I like to image you:

Using protection during oral sex		"Kiss and Tell" (talking to friends about what happens in the sack)		Orgy
Bottom			Using protection during intercourse	Top
Polyamory	STI/HIV Testing	Penetration		Power Play
	Pain		Monogamy	Fetish
Using latex gloves		"Fuck buddy"	Threesome

WHERE I DRAW THE LINES

Draw lines through the boxes where your boundaries are and write small explanations. What kind of lines you draw are totally up to you, as is what you write. In blank boxes, create your own words that you'd like to draw boundaries around.
